V1 Full Script — "Is Your Kid Always Dysregulated?" (Kids Mental Health Bundle)

Date: 2026-10-26 · Version: V1 full script v1.0 · Status: Draft, awaiting strategist approval

Sources - Variation: V1 (#1 BEST BET) in `adaptations/INS-20785b5fa6bd-KMH-adaptation.md` - Reference structure: `inspiration-breakdowns/INS-20785b5fa6bd-breakdown.md` (55.1 s, 9:16, 27 shots, 20 caption sentences, 171 words) - Angle: Dysregulated Kid · Persona: mom raising kids, 35-44 - Offer (given by the user, 2026-10-26): "free today" / "FREE Kids Mental Health Bundle"

How this script was built - Same structure: one line per reference caption sentence (A01–A20), on the same shots and timings (S01–S27), with no shots added or removed. - Same word count per line: each line matches the reference line it replaces. The total is 171 words, the same as the reference. - Kept from the reference: the 3-word headline, the 10-word hook, the problem taking 60% of the runtime, the "what if" question at 30.3 s, usage stated before the product name, careful claim wording ("can help"), "No more" lines shown over the old problem, the 3-item benefit list, the usage line repeated, and a 3-word CTA. - Changed from the reference: the bloating story becomes a dysregulation story. The gross creature shot becomes a dark storm inside the kid's head. Bathroom scenes become home scenes with the printed bundle. - Claims: no diagnosis, treatment, ADHD or "cure" language, per `AGENTS.md`.

1. Clean script

On-screen headline (S01 only, 0:00–0:03): Kid Always DYSREGULATED?

Voiceover (captions mirror it word-for-word, 1–4 words at a time):

> Is your kid always dysregulated, melting down over little things? Then the shoes feel wrong. Their whole body goes rigid. Big feelings get trapped inside. Constant tears, slamming doors. And that tense feeling just won't go away.
>
> Soon, asking for something simple starts feeling like a risk. You brace yourself mornings, dinners, bedtimes. And instead of enjoying your kid, you're waiting for the next meltdown to start. Day after day, your home feels loud, tense, and exhausting, leaving you drained before your day is even over.
>
> What if your kid has been asking for a different kind of support?
>
> Just one printable feelings chart with your kid every day can help them name feelings, and leave your home feeling lighter and more peaceful. No more bracing yourself before every request. No more worrying about meltdowns or tantrums, just a kid who names feelings, calmer evenings and time to enjoy them.
>
> Add one feelings chart a day from the free Kids Mental Health Bundle and give your kid support. Grab yours free.

2. Line-by-line script (word counts vs. reference)

Line	Time (s)	Shots	V1 line	Words	Reference line it replaces	Ref words
A01	0.00–2.67	S01	Is your kid always dysregulated, melting down over little things?	10	Every time you eat, it starts with a little bloating.	10

Line	Time (s)	Shots	V1 line	Words	Reference line it replaces	Ref words
A02	2.67–4.17	S02	Then the shoes feel wrong.	5	Then your jeans feel tighter.	5
A03	4.17–6.00	S03	Their whole body goes rigid.	5	Your stomach feels rock hard.	5
A04	6.00–8.00	S04	Big feelings get trapped inside.	5	Painful gas gets trapped inside.	5
A05	8.00–10.17	S05	Constant tears, slamming doors.	4	Constant burping, passing gas.	4
A06	10.17–12.83	S05→S06	And that tense feeling just won't go away.	8	And that heavy feeling just won't go away.	8
A07	12.83–16.50	S07	Soon, asking for something simple starts feeling like a risk.	10	Soon, eating your favorite food starts feeling like a risk.	10
A08	16.50–19.33	S08–S10	You brace yourself mornings, dinners, bedtimes.	6	You feel uncomfortable sitting, walking, working.	6
A09	19.33–23.17	S11–S12	And instead of enjoying your kid, you're waiting for the next meltdown to start.	14	And instead of enjoying your meal, you're waiting for the bloating to go away.	14
A10	23.17–27.67	S13–S14	Day after day, your home feels loud, tense, and exhausting,	10	Day after day, your gut feels swollen, sluggish, and uncomfortable,	10
A11	27.67–30.50	S15	leaving you drained before your day is even over.	9	leaving you drained before your day is even over.	9
A12	30.50–33.33	S16	What if your kid has been asking for a different kind of support?	13	what if your gut has been asking for a different kind of support?	13
A13	33.33–35.83	S17	Just one printable feelings chart with your kid every day	10	Just 2 to 3 drops in your navel every day	10
A14	35.83–38.00	S18	can help them name feelings,	5	can help support healthy digestion,	5
A15	38.00–40.67	S19	and leave your home feeling lighter and more peaceful.	9	and leave your gut feeling lighter and more comfortable.	9
A16	40.67–42.83	S20	No more bracing yourself before every request.	7	No more feeling heavy after every meal.	7
A17	42.83–45.00	S21	No more worrying about meltdowns or tantrums,	7	No more worrying about gas or bloating,	7
A18	45.00–49.17	S22–S24	just a kid who names feelings, calmer evenings and time to enjoy them.	13	just a lighter stomach, smoother digestion and the comfort to enjoy your day.	13
A19	49.17–53.83	S25–S26	Add one feelings chart a day from the free Kids Mental Health Bundle and give your kid support.	18	Add 2 to 3 drops to your daily routine and give your gut the natural support it deserves.	18
A20	53.83–55.06	S27	Grab yours free.	3	Order yours today.	3
Total				171		171

Headline: "Kid Always DYSREGULATED?" = 3 words [Kid] [Always] [DYSREGULATED?] (reference "Always Feeling BLOATED?" = 3). Hook line: 10 words (reference 10). CTA: 3 words (reference 3). All Match ✅.

---

3. Shot plan (same 27 shots and cut times as the reference)

Characters - Mom: the reference heroine, a stylised female skeleton with long wavy auburn hair and an orange/mustard terry headband, often with a translucent body. - Kid: a smaller skeleton, about 6–8 years old, with a translucent head and chest. Inside, a swirling red-orange storm cloud shows when dysregulated and a soft blue glow when settled. These two glows replace the reference's gas and bloat.

Look: the first half (S01–S16) is dim, warm, amber home interiors with the red-orange storm as the recurring problem signal. The second half (S17–S27) is bright white bedrooms and kitchens with a blue glow and gold light accents. Hard cuts only. Captions are white bold italic serif with a soft shadow, centred at about 74% of frame height.

Shot	Time (s)	Beat	Line	Visual (adapted)	Reference shot it replaces
S01	0.000–2.703	Hook	A01 + headline	X-ray split screen with a thin divider. Left (dark red): mom hunched, hand on forehead, next to the kid screaming; the storm in the kid's head grows small yellow → large red-orange. Right (teal): mom and kid stand calm, faint blue glow. Headline "Kid Always DYSREGULATED?" top ~10%, from frame 1.	Split-screen X-ray, belly glow growing
S02	2.703–4.204	Escalation	A02	Medium shot, warm living room. Kid sits on the floor tugging at a shoe and sock, face scrunched; mom kneels holding the other shoe.	Jeans won't close
S03	4.204–5.939	Escalation	A03	Kid stands stiff, arms locked at sides, in a floral armchair room (fireplace, family photos). The storm visible in the translucent chest.	Hard belly in armchair
S04	5.939–8.008	Escalation	A04	Kid on a grey sofa; the translucent chest fills with a thick red-orange storm that presses against the ribs.	Green gas fills torso
S05	8.008–10.277	Escalation	A05 + start of A06	Side profile in a hallway: kid in tears; a bedroom door swings shut behind; small storm puffs escape.	Passing gas in armchair
S06	10.277–12.813	Persistence	A06	Mom at night in mustard polka-dot pyjamas, sleep mask on forehead, rubbing her own tense chest (faint storm glow in her chest too).	Pyjamas, glass belly at bedtime
S07	12.813–16.450	Life impact	A07	Dinner table with a simple meal; mom gently offering a plate of vegetables; the kid's head storm flares; mom freezes mid-gesture.	Feast table, "food feels like a risk"
S08	16.450–18.051	Life impact (list)	A08 "You brace yourself mornings,"	Mom by the front door in the morning, backpack in hand, bracing, eyes closed.	Chin-in-hand in armchair
S09	18.051–18.685	Life impact (list)	A08 "dinners,"	Quick shot: mom setting the dinner table, bracing as the kid's storm glows in the background.	Street walk
S10	18.685–19.386	Life impact (list)	A08 "bedtimes."	Quick shot: mom at the kid's bedroom door at night, hand on the light switch, bracing.	Laptop "working"
S11	19.386–21.021	Life impact	A09 (first half)	Living room: a board game set up on the table; mom watches the kid instead of playing.	Meal not eaten
S12	21.021–23.157	Life impact	A09 (second half)	Mom sits on the edge of a dark bed, hands clasped, waiting; the kid's storm glows faintly through the doorway.	Waiting on bed edge

Shot	Time (s)	Beat	Line	Visual (adapted)	Reference shot it replaces
S13	23.157–25.826	Low point	A10 (first half)	Over-the-shoulder mirror shot: mom's back in grey joggers; her reflection looks exhausted, with a faint storm in her own chest.	Mirror, bloated belly
S14	25.826–27.728	Low point	A10 (second half)	Close-up inside the kid's translucent head: storm clouds and tiny lightning flickers.	Inside-gut bubbles
S15	27.728–30.297	Low point	A11	Mom with her head down on folded arms at a wooden kitchen counter, white tile wall, exhausted.	Head down on counter
S16	30.297–33.300	Turn	A12	Darkest shot: extreme close-up inside the kid's head, a dense, slow-swirling dark storm with no way out. No creatures, no gore.	Dark gut with worm creatures
S17	33.300–35.836	Product as daily habit	A13	Bright white bedroom: mom and kid sit on the bed holding a printed feelings chart from the bundle; the kid points at one face on the chart.	Dropper in navel, white bed
S18	35.836–37.971	How it works	A14	Inside the kid's head: a glowing gold-blue path travels from the eyes (reading the chart) through the storm, which starts to thin; camera pulls back to the head silhouette.	Glowing path through organs
S19	37.971–40.607	Outcome	A15	Mom and kid in a bright living room, both smiling, double thumbs up; the kid's head shows a clear blue glow.	Thumbs up, flat belly
S20	40.607–42.843	"No more" contrast	A16	The old state: mom at the kitchen doorway, tense, about to ask something; storm glow behind her.	Desk, negative state
S21	42.843–45.078	"No more" contrast	A17	The old state: kid lying in bed, wide-eyed, storm swirling in the head.	Bed, green fluid
S22	45.078–46.246	Benefits (list)	A18 "just a kid who names feelings,"	Clean inside view of the kid's head: calm, soft blue, a small glowing feelings-chart face.	Clean intestines
S23	46.246–47.547	Benefits (list)	A18 "calmer evenings"	Blue X-ray of the kid's head and chest glowing steady cyan (echoes the S01 right side).	Blue X-ray digestive tract
S24	47.547–49.249	Benefits (list)	A18 "and time to enjoy them."	Mom and kid sitting up in a white bed, laughing, stretching arms overhead together.	Stretching in bed
S25	49.249–51.485	Usage repeated + offer	A19 (first half)	Bright kitchen: mom pins a feelings chart to the fridge; the kid points at a face; a gold glow spirals in the kid's chest.	Bathroom dropper ritual
S26	51.485–53.887	Payoff	A19 (second half)	Same framing: gold light bursts through the kid's head and chest; dark storm wisps break up and float away; kid wide-eyed and smiling.	Gold burst expels dark particles
S27	53.887–55.055	CTA	A20	Mom holds the printed bundle (cover "KIDS MENTAL HEALTH (A Parent & Educator Guide)") at shoulder height, frame left, smiling; kid beside her. Use the real bundle cover as an overlay or composite; don't generate a lookalike.	Bottle held up

4. Offer and claims check

Item	V1 wording	Check
Offer	"the free Kids Mental Health Bundle" (A19) + "Grab yours free." (A20)	Uses the user's offer. "Free" must be true at checkout: if a processing or shipping fee applies, it needs disclosing on the landing page or in the post copy.

Item	V1 wording	Check
"Free today"	Not in the VO (it would push the CTA to 4 words).	Optional variant: A20 "Grab yours free today." (4 words, one over the reference). Or put "FREE TODAY" in the post copy.
Benefit claims	"can help them name feelings", "lighter and more peaceful", "calmer evenings"	Careful wording; no diagnosis, ADHD, treatment, cure or timelines (per AGENTS.md and the audience objections).
Proof	none used	No invented stats, reviews or endorsements.

5. Open items before Skill 3

1. Approve or change the wording of the 20 lines. Skill 3 will lock these words exactly.
2. Real bundle cover image for S17/S25/S27. A generated lookalike isn't allowed as the product image.
3. Free-today variant: decide whether the CTA stays "Grab yours free." (3 words) or becomes "Grab yours free today." (4 words).
4. Skeleton kid style check (see the adaptation's open decisions).